PRIMARY ELECTION August 1, 1914.

OHIO RIVER
NAVIGATION

WILL BE GREATLY BENEFITED
BY THE BIG CIVIL APPROPRIATION BILL.

Four Million Dollars Will Be Expended During Year 1915—Thousands For Federal Buildings.

Washington.—More than $4,000,000 is carried in the sundry civil bill reported to the house from the committee on appropriations for prosecuting the work on the lock and dam system of the Ohio river that already has been inaugurated and is going on under the continuous contract system. Under the act of 1910, which provides for the construction of a number of locks and dams below Pittsburg, the sum of $1,976,000 is appropriated for expenditure in the fiscal year 1915; the total original authorized sum for this feature of the work was $3,000,000, and $1,024,000 has already been appropriated and expended. Under the act of 1912, which provides for the complete canalization of the river, $2,200,000 is appropriated in the bill, making an aggregate of $4,176,000 for expenditure in 1915. This, however, is in addition to the new appropriation carried in the river and harbor bill, which has already passed the house and is now pending in the senate.

This measure authorizes the Secretary of War to enter into contracts for new work on the canalization project not to exceed $3,000,000, of which $2,000,000 is made available for expenditure in 1915. This brings the aggregate sum that may be expended in the twelve-months period beginning July 1 next up to $6,176,000, with $1,000,000 more authorized. For the benefit of people who do not recall the difference between appropriations in the sundry civil and river and harbor bills, it may be said that the appropriations in the sundry civil bill are under authorizations in preceding river and harbor bills; the latter measures always make provision for the new work, but authorize the expenditure of a larger sum than is usually made immediately available. This year's river and harbor bill also appropriates $350,000 for open-channel work in the Ohio. More than three quarters of a million dollars is carried in the sundry civil bill for public building work in the states of Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and West Virginia. The appropriations are for sites, continuation of work on post-offices or completing it, or for commencing the projects. The items are as follows:

Ohio—Akron, site, $60,000; Alliance, completion of building, $25,000; Ashland, additional land, $10,000; Bellaire, completion, $31,000; Cambridge, completion, $32,000; Dayton, completion, $50,000; Piqua, completion, $11,000; Salem, completion, $38,000; Steubenville, continuation, $20,000; Tiffin, commencement, $7,000; Xenia, completion, $19,000.

Indiana—Gary, continuation, $30,000; Indianapolis, extension of matting platform, $6,000; Mishawaka, completion, $35,000; New Albany, completion, $38,000; and rent of temporary quarters, $5,000; Newcastle, completion, $28,000; Portland, continuation, $20,000; Seymour, $100,000.

West Virginia—Charleston, rent of temporary quarters and moving, $2,400; Moundsville, continuation, $56,000; Sistersville, completion, $30,000; Wellsburg, commencement, $1,000.

Kentucky—Bardonia, completion, $15,000; Cynthia, completion, $10,000; Falmouth, site, $5,000; Fulton, commencement, $5,000; Georgetown, continuation, $25,000; Hopkinsville, completion, $30,000; Jackson, continuation, $25,000; Marion, site, $5,250; Middlesboro, commencement, $8,000.

The customary appropriation for the maintenance of the National Soldiers' Home at Dayton, O., is carried, the appropriation this year being $571,000. The bill carries the general provision, which is applicable to all soldiers' homes, that none of the money shall be available for any home which maintains within its confines a bar or canteen at which intoxicating liquor is sold. The appropriations provided in the bill aggregate $107,000,000.

WILL SPEND $15,000,000 ON ROADS.

Columbus, O.—Fifteen million dollars will be spent for good roads in Ohio this year, according to the estimate of the state highway department. Of this amount $9,000,000 will be spent on contracts under the supervision of the highway department. The remaining $6,000,000 will be spent directly by counties and townships.

SALE OF RAILROAD ANNOUNCED.

Detroit, Mich.—The Pere Marquette railroad will be sold by the United States court within a few months, if possible, under the foreclosure suit brought by the consolidated mortgage holders and now pending. Meanwhile the receiver will be allowed about $4,000,000 to run the road properly. This was stated in the United States court by Judge Tuttle, who delivered his full views on the much-labeled situation of the bankrupt system.

BLOCKADE IS OFF

HUERTA RESCINDS DECREE AS TO TAMPICO AS GUNBOATS REACH PORT.

MAKES PLEA TO MEDIATORS

Carranza Will Address Note to Envoys in Which He Will Announce That He Is Sending Delegates to Mediation Conference.

Mexican City, June 10.—"The blockade of Tampico has been suspended." This formal announcement was issued on Monday by the government.

Niagara Falls, June 10.—The protests of the Mexican delegates and the A.B.C. plenipotentiaries have forced President Wilson to stop the shipment of war supplies to the constitutionalists. A statement was made public by the Mexican envoys which shows that Washington has promised that the ammunition aboard the Antilla will not be landed at Tampico.

Washington, June 10.—General Carranza will address a note to the A.B.C. mediators in which he will announce that he is sending delegates to the mediation conference. The instructions of these envoys will preclude their acceptance of any protocol or other agreement which provides for the settlement of Mexico's internal affairs.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 10.—The announcement that the Huerta government at Mexico City had countermanded the order on Monday for the blockade of the port of Tampico was scarcely of greater significance here than the disclosure that the United States government had accepted in principle the plan of pacification for Mexico drawn by the American and Mexican delegates here.

Washington, June 9.—General Carranza's reply to the last communication of the mediators has been received in Washington and will be sent to Niagara Falls this week. General Carranza expresses his willingness to enter the Niagara Falls conference, but on his own terms. The rebel chief will not consent to enter into any armistice. He still stands out against any attempt on the part of the United States or the A.B.C. diplomats to interfere with Mexico's internal affairs, but he gives evidence of a willingness to let down the bars slightly in regard to this question of a settlement of Mexico's own differences through peaceful conferences. Carranza is willing to mediate the international questions involved in the present situation, and it is understood that he acknowledges that it may be necessary in this connection to discuss some phases of Mexico's internal affairs.

The stand that Carranza has taken was communicated to Secretary Bryan and it was apparent that the administration found ground for hope in it that the mediators might finally admit Carranza's reply to the mediators, as received in Washington, consists merely of certain instructions to his agents here. The mediators' communication was addressed to Senor Zubaran, Carranza's representative here, and the reply based on the first chief's instructions will be sent over the signature of Senor Zubaran. It is understood that the Zubaran note will seek to minimize the question of an armistice, at the same time giving no indication that Carranza will ever consider yielding on that point.

WILL ACCEPT TOLLS PLAN

President Wilson Expected to Agree to the Amendments Proposed in Congress.

Washington, June 9.—President Wilson is expected to accept the senate amendments to the Panama tolls exemption repeal, specifying that the United States does not waive its right to discriminate in favor of its own shipping, but he does not feel that the senate gives its assent to the repeal in "ungrudging measure" by attaching amendments. Mr. Wilson takes the position that as legislation in no way waives treaty rights he may accept the measure, although he desired passage of the repeal without limitation. The senate judiciary committee voted to begin work immediately on the Clayton omnibus trust bill passed last week by the house.

Office Holders Mustn't Lecture. Washington, June 9.—A bill making it unlawful for any cabinet officer, department head or clerk, to lecture for pay other than actual traveling expenses during the time he occupies his position, and forbidding members of congress to lecture for pay while congress is in session, was introduced in the house by Representative Britten of Illinois.

U. S. BODY IS UPHELD

SUPREME COURT HOLDS COMMISSION RATE MAKING POWER LEADS ALL OTHERS.

DECISION IS VERY SWEEPING

Believed to Be Most Thorough Declaration in Favor of the Government Authority Yet Made by the Supreme Court of the U. S.

Washington, June 10.—That the rate making power of the interstate commerce commission takes precedence over the jurisdiction of state commissions in situations where the reasonableness of interstate rates is called into question was shown when the U. S. Supreme court handed down a decision on Monday upholding the efforts of shippers of Shreveport, La., to prevent alleged discrimination against them by the Texas railroad commission in favor of Houston and Dallas, Tex.

The decision is believed to be one of the most sweeping declarations in favor of the dominant authority of the federal government that the Supreme court has yet made.

The interstate commerce commission found that class and other rates from Shreveport to Texas points were unreasonable and ordered rates to be equalized so that Shreveport would not be discriminated against in favor of Dallas and Houston.

Justice Hughes said there were several ways of conforming to the commission's order. Reviewing the objection of the railroads that the commission could not reduce intrastate rates to conform with interstate rates, Justice Hughes said the power of congress was adequate to meet all the emergencies that arise out of local interference with national intercourse.

Justice Hughes said that congress, not the state, might prescribe the rule when state and national interests conflict.

The Shreveport litigation grew out of a protest made by shippers of Shreveport, La., against discrimination by the Texas railroad commission. The Louisville railroad commission joined in this protest. It was contended that the Texas commission fixed rates so that business which should have come to Shreveport because of its geographical location near the Texas line, went to Houston and Dallas. In other words, Shreveport could not get business in competitive territory in Texas—territory which was a fair commercial field for the activities of all three cities. The Louisianians appealed to the interstate commerce commission, claiming that the rates from Shreveport to Texas points on the Texas Pacific railway and the Houston East & West Texas railway were unreasonable and discriminatory. The commission decided they were unreasonable and prescribed lower interstate rates.

CLAYTON BILL WINS

ANTI-TRUST MEASURE CARRIES EXEMPTION FOR LABORERS.

Farmers' Societies Are Also Immune—Only Two Democrats Oppose the Legislation.

Washington, June 8.—The administration's anti-trust legislation passed the house of representatives by decisive votes on Friday. The three bills carrying plans for further reforms of big business and an issuance of securities will be rushed to the senate.

On the Clayton general trust bill which carried the labor and farmers' organizations' exemption clause and limitations on the power of courts to issue injunctions in labor disputes the vote was 275 to 54. A roll call on the stocks and bonds bill resulted 325 to 12. A federal trade commission bill passed without opposition.

The Clayton bill, besides the pro-labor amendments, carries legislation against the use of unfair methods by large corporations and seeks to restore competition. It provides also against interlocking directorates among competing concerns and between corporations and their supply companies. It is believed this provision will bring to the front a number of new men now held in subordinate positions because of the enforced retirement of directorates, besides opening to individuals opportunities in the supplies contract field.

Opposition to this bill came largely on the labor exemption and the injunction and contempt sections.

Only two Democrats went on record as opposing this legislation. They were White of Ohio and Geary of Rhode Island. The latter announced a pair with another member and withdrew his vote. All the Progressives except Chandler of New York voted for the bill.

EX-MAYOR IS FATALLY SHOT

"He Refused to Treat My Sick Child," Says Assassin of Doctor Dunn at Duquoin, Ill.

Duquoin, Ill., June 9.—Dr. D. Winton Dunn, formerly mayor of Duquoin, was shot and fatally wounded here on Sunday by Jesse Joplin.

"He refused to treat my sick child because of an unpaid bill," said Joplin in extenuation of his act.

News of the shooting so inflamed the community that the authorities took the precaution of hurrying Joplin to Pinckneyville, where he is held in the Perry county jail. Doctor Dunn was taken to St. Louis on a special train soon after the shooting, but died in a hospital later. He had been wounded in six places by Joplin, none of whose bullets failed to hit the physician.

Speaking of the Vera Cruz situation, the president reverently declared that "I pray God the boys there will not have to fight any more." He added that the real good they will do will be their impression on the Mexicans.

GUNS BROUGHT INTO PLAY

WHEN ITALIAN POLICE CLASH WITH STRIKERS—ONE KILLED IN FLORENCE RIOT.

Scores Are Injured During Rome Street Fight—Storekeepers Are Forced By Laborers To Close Shops—Windows of Railway Cars Broken.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Rome.—The general strike proclaimed as a protest against the repressive measures taken by the government in connection with demonstrations at Ancona, Sunday, when several men were shot down, is spreading and gaining in intensity. The resentment of the workmen has been fanned by the killing of another striker at Florence.

The government views the movement with anxiety, as it is believed to be supported not only by the Socialists, but by the radical party, which is anxious to embarrass the Salandra ministry. The premier was subjected to strong criticism in the chamber for prohibiting anti-militarism meetings on June 7. In reply he said there had been no trouble except at Ancona and that no one regretted more than he the loss of life. He said that the policemen who fired the fatal shots would be prosecuted.

In Rome 1,000 strikers tried to march to the Quirinal and came into violent contact with the troops and police, who fired nine volleys in the air before the mob gave way. A large number of soldiers and strikers were injured. The strikers attempted to reform their shattered ranks, and another fierce engagement with the police took place before they were dispersed.

In the cities where the strike was in force no newspapers were published. From many parts of Italy come reports of disorders. At Genoa the strikers compelled the storekeepers to close their places of business. At Turin rioters seized two wagon loads of tobacco belonging to the state and threw several cases of cigarettes through the window of a cafe and burned the remainder before cavalry dispersed them. After forcing all the stores to close bands of strikers at Bergamo smashed the windows of cars and made the railroad employes return to the car sheds.

DECLARED NOT FACTORY

Status of Tobacco Redrying Plant is Determined.

Lexington, Ky.—After discussing the matter the Board of City Commissioners decided that a tobacco redrying plant is not a manufactory, and therefore is not exempt from taxation for five years under the ordinance exempting new manufactories from city taxation for that length of time. The vote stood 4 to 1 for this ruling. Mayor J. E. Cassidy casting the only negative vote. Mayor Cassidy took the position that a redryer is a part of the manufacturing process of tobacco. On the other hand, Commissioner Keeling Pulliam declared that he had not only inspected the plants in question, but that he had consulted some of the leading tobacco men here, and they had given it as their opinion that it was a joke to construe a redrying plant as a manufactory, and it was not considered so in any other city of the country.

Lexington, Ky.—Ten thousand one hundred and sixty-one dollars have been earned since September 15 last by 157 pupils of Morton high school, who are endeavoring while in school to help themselves financially.

QUALIFIED AS ADMINISTRATOR.

Louisville, Ky.—Dr. John G. South, son-in-law of the late Senator W. O. Bradley, qualified as administrator of the Senator's estate. Senator Bradley left no will. The widow, Mrs. Margaret Bradley, waived the right to qualify, as did Mrs. South, the Senator's daughter. Both expressed the wish that Dr. South be named. The estate consists of personality to the estimated value of $20,000 and real estate, the value of which has not been stated by the administrator.

KENTUCKY BREVITIES

Frankfort, Ky.—Allen Creech, who escaped from the Frankfort Reformatory April 6, in company with Rufus Taylor, is under arrest at Richmond, Va., and Warden Wells will send a man with extradition papers after him. Pikeville, Ky.—In the Pike circuit court the jury in the case of Will (alias "Big Windy") Coleman, charged with the killing of Monroe Hackney in April, returned a verdict of manslaughter, with a sentence of one to three years in the penitentiary.

Pikeville, Ky.—Pikeville is facing the greatest construction period of its history. The time of every carpenter and building agency in the city is fully occupied, and the scarcity of labor appears to be the only source of delay to the builders.

Pikeville, Ky.—An ordinance has been passed by the city council requiring owners of motor-driven vehicles to execute a bond for $2,000, in addition to a license fee of $50, before they will be permitted to use the streets.

Versailles, Ky.—The state convention of the Farmers' Co-operative and Educational union will be held in Versailles on July 28, 29 and 30. A large gathering of farmers from all parts of the state is expected.

TRACTION CO. BOOST FARES

KENTUCKY TRACTION & TERMINAL
RAILROAD CO. TAKE ADVANTAGE OF NEW LAW.

REDUCE COST ON STEAM ROADS

New Law Goes Into Effect June 20—
Fares Will Be Increased in Proportion to the Distance.

(Special Frankfort Correspondence.)

Frankfort, Ky.—On June 20 the Kentucky Traction & Terminal Railroad Co. will put into operation upon its twenty miles of interurban lines connecting Lexington with Paris, Georgetown, Nicholasville, Versailles and Frankfort, the 2½ cents a mile fare provided in the bill passed by the recent session of the legislature, which goes into effect on that date. Although the new law was designed to reduce the cost of travel and does so on the steam railroads, yet on all of the interurban lines from this city the fare will be increased by its provisions, as heretofore the charge for passengers was about 2 cents a mile. The additional fare to Georgetown, Versailles, Nicholasville and Paris from this city will be 5 cents over the present charge, but from Versailles to Frankfort the fare will remain the same, as that has always been at the rate of 2½ cents a mile. For intermediate points between these cities the fare will be increased in proportion to the distance, and signs will be put up at each stop showing the distance to adjacent cities, so that prospective passengers can see from the distance what the charge will be at the rate of 2½ cents per mile.

Suit Will Be Brought.

As the result of the decision of the United States supreme court, holding in the Greenbrier Distillery case that the State Railroad Commission has authority to fix intrastate freight rates and require restitution for rates in excess of that fixed by the commission, an order will be entered by the commission as of recently, allowing suits to be filed for claims of all the distilleries which are parties to the suit, for overcharge since March 25, 1910, against the Louisville & Nashville. An agreed suit then will be brought for all in the Jefferson circuit court if it can be so arranged. The board allowed the claims in 1910. The case involves many thousands of dollars.

State Building of Kentucky.

A unique plan for raising funds for the erection of a Kentucky building at the Panama-Pacific exposition and at the same time advertise Kentucky's resources and reveal the home life in this state, has been adopted by the state commission. The plan is a moving picture exhibit. Those who wished to be represented in the moving picture show in the Kentucky building will be charged according to the number of feet of film they use. F. S. Hendrick, of the Washington Post staff, will make the pictures. He has already secured a similar contract in Alabama, Georgia and Tennessee and closed the contract with Kentucky.

Mine Workers' Case of Interest.

Perhaps the most important case to come up at the present term of the United States district court, and one which will be attended with national interest, is that of the United States against John P. White, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and other members of the national and district organizations, numbering 170 in all. Mr. White and his associates were indicted by the federal grand jury in Charleston early in the year of 1913, and at the time of the long-drawn-out strike on Paint and Cabin creeks.

Allowed $5, Per Year.

Convicts will be permitted to work after completing their tasks to make the $5 a year each, which they lose by the appellate court declaring unconstitutional the convicts' pay law. The night schools will be maintained, although this decision took away their maintenance. The commission thinks the law sending boys under 21, convicted of felonies to penitentiaries instead of the reform-school, is unfortunate.

National Guard Camp Selected.

The 1914 annual encampment of the Kentucky National Guard will be held at Lexington. Acting Adjutant General J. Tandy Ellis has received from Governor's Island, N. Y., a telegram from Adjutant General Simpson of the Eastern Division of the United States Army, approving the site.

Total Equalized Value.

The total equalized value of all property in Kentucky subject to assessment by county assessors is $864,273,838 for 1914, which is $12,102,633 higher than for 1913. This was an increase of $18,423,215 over the assessed valuation of $845,850,623. Land assessments were increased by the board from $351,625,429 to $364,511,395; assessment of town lots from $296,970,527 to $298,306,656 and personality from $116,490,578 to $119,697,133. The dog tax amounts to $103,040, and exemptions to $80,758,649.

Earnings of State Farms.

Out of funds saved from the income from the farms under its management, the State Board of Control is undertaking extensive improvements this summer. The equipment of all the institutions with tubercular wards is the first consideration. Western Kentucky and Lakeland hospitals already have them and one is under way at the Eastern Hospital. The surplus from the Western State Hospital will take care of the cost of erecting a tubercular ward at the Institute for the Care of Feeble Minded here. A contract for this will be let soon. The construction of a new boiler house, re-setting of the entire battery of boilers and stokers and installation of a new 300-horse-power boiler at Lakeland will require six months' time and will cost $20,000. The board has adopted plans for the industrial building at the Western State Hospital, and work will be started on it at once. The board has bought a big motor truck for use there. The institution is two miles from Hopkinsville, and the truck is expected to save considerably more than its cost the first year.

Local Court Sustained.

Two judgments of the Jefferson circuit court were affirmed by the court of appeals. In the case of the Tharp University School against the Komus Realty Co., the court held that the memorandum of a contract to trade the school property in Zane street to the realty company for its property in Oxford and Cornell places, between Frankfort avenue and Cherokee drive in Louisville, was too indefinite for a decree of specific performance and affirmed the Jefferson circuit court in sustaining a demurrer to the Tharp School's petition. Judge Hannah wrote the opinion. In the case of the Sewerage Commission of the city of Louisville against H. J. Gates, in which the sewerage commission sued to ascertain to whom certain money in its hands was due, the court held that Gates is entitled to it. Gates loaned $4,000 to E. A. Barker & Sons, contractors, who built the Jefferson and Dumesnil-street sewers.

Nominate at Primary.

Candidates for the short term in the United States senate to fill the vacancy created by the death of Senator William O. Bradley must be nominated in the state primary in August. This opinion was given to the assistant secretary of state by the attorney general. The occasion of the opinion was an inquiry of Van Sant as to whether he should receive and file the declarations of those persons who desire to be candidates in the August primary for the short term. Attorney General Garnett reviewed the former decisions of the court bearing on this point. He said: "Candidates for unexpired terms to be filled at the November election shall be nominated at the primary next preceding such November election, provided such vacancy occurred not less than 70 days before the day on which the next primary is to be held."

Ohio in the Lead.

At the fourteenth annual state council of the Daughters of America, a gain of 600 members during the year was reported. The states of Maryland and Kentucky are having an exciting race for the second place in membership in the Union. Ohio leads by nearly twice the number in the other states. Mrs. Fannie Dinsley, of Newport, Ky., was elected State Councillor, and Mrs. Emma Whiting, of Newport, was re-elected State Secretary and National Trustee. Two of the most important offices of the organization will go to Newport. Eleven new councils have been instituted during the year, making a total of 78 councils in the state.

Candidates Must Enter.

Candidates for the short term for United States Senator to fill the vacancy created by the death of Senator William O'Connell Bradley must be nominated in the state primary in August. This is the opinion given by Attorney General Garnett to Cecil Vansant, Assistant Secretary of State, in answer to the query by Vansant as to whether he should receive and file the declarations of those persons who desire to be candidates in the August primary for the short term.

Camp Site Approved.

The war department at Washington has approved Fort Springs as the site for the encampment of the Kentucky National Guard. Acting Adjutant General Ellis received a wire from Washington approving the location. The Twenty-ninth Infantry, U. S. A., will come to Kentucky to camp with the members of the guard.

Fourteen Companies.

Fourteen fire insurance companies have furnished more than one-half of the insurance written in Kentucky during the last 10 years. They have collected in premiums $22,603,317, and have paid in losses $11,976,793. The excess of premiums over the losses has been $10,626,524.

Hollis Will Speak.

Senator Henry F. Hollis, of New Hampshire, will be the principal speaker before the annual convention of the West Virginia Bankers' Association, which will meet at Martinsburg on June 23 and 24. This announcement was made by Secretary Joseph H. Hill, of Charleston, who declared that the attendance would be unusually large this year, the members being interested in the discussion of the new currency law, which Senator Hollis will explain in his address to the bankers.

WOMAN COULD HARDLY STAND

Because of Terrible Backache. Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I suffered from displacement and inflammation, and had such pains in my sides, and terrible backache so that I could hardly stand. I took six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I can do any amount of work, sleep good, eat good, and don't have a bit of trouble. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to every suffering woman."—Mrs. HARRY FISHER, 1642 Juniata Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Another Woman's Case. Providence, R. I.—"I cannot speak too highly of your Vegetable Compound as it has done wonders for me and I would not be without it. I had a displacement, bearing down, and backache, until I could hardly stand and was thoroughly run down when I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helped me and I am in the best of health at present. I work in a factory all day long besides doing my housework so you can see what it has done for me. I give you permission to publish my name and I speak of your Vegetable Compound to many of my friends."—Mrs. ABRAHAM LAWSON, 126 Lippitt St., Providence, R. I.

Danger Signals to Women are what one physician called backache, headache, nervousness, and the blues. In many cases they are symptoms of some female derangement or of inflammatory, ulcerative condition, which may be overcome by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands of American women willingly testify to its virtue.

One Dollar Per Year in Advance

The Official Organ of the Republican Party in Knox County.

Funny aint it, how some people get through the world and never sweat.

The Peace treaty bunch up at Niagara Falls, are having a good time drinking champagne and waiting for Huerta and Carranza to send in their resignations as rulers of the two wings of government in Mexico.

Well, the Senatorial race is going to be a problem, that is to say there will be several in the running. Of course there will be Stanley, Beckham and McCreary, on the Democratic ticket; and Hunter, McGregor and possibly Augustus E. Wilson, on the Republican ticket; and no one knows how many monkeys will be in the side show.

It has been rumored that times are not as good now as they were a year or two ago. Wonder what's the matter? The mines at Ely have not worked any this month and many more that we could mention have suspended operation, and others are working just enough to say they are doing something—not shut down—Democratic good times, that's all.

Do Your Neighbor a Kindness

You owe several duties in this world, why don't you perform these your duty to God, your county, your neighbor, your family, and yourself get busy, be a sure enough man a Manly Man. Subscribe for the Advocate, let your family read it, pass it to his neighbor and let it go on down the line. If there is anything in it that is not right, say so and will correct it. If you think of something you would like to have said, send it in to us and we'll publish it for you. When you are in town come in and see us, we are always glad to have you boost the Advocate and we will boost your interests. Let's be friends, we need each other.

We intended to apologize last week for coming out late and for the appearance of our paper, but we didn't have time or space. We had plenty of ink, but the fountain leaked and we could not get the darned stuff to work right. We had a time, let me tell you. We started to move, and did not realize the task. We had an engine, one 15,000 pound cylinder press, one very large Chandler & Price Gordon job press, two small job presses, one big paper cutter, one old style Washington press, and 150 cases of job and body type, stones, galleys, desks, and a safe containing the accumulation of fabulous sums as assets to the office. Everything was out of place but the devil and he was so blamed hot and contrary to so much, besides all this upheaval we were crowded with more job work than usual, but we are now squatted for fifteen years, and you will find us in the mercate Arcade, right on the public Square, ready to give you a square deal in giving you a hundred cents worth for every dollar you leave with us. We will do your job work better, easier and quicker than anyone we know of, if you don't believe it just come around and see us a trial.

"KILL THE DEVIL"

Guess we have to kill our Devil for he is continually into something, he got our type mixed last week, and the man at the cases got hold of a 1/2 instead of a 1/4, and had the ad for the First National Bank read "we pay 3% on time deposits". This bank does not pay 3% per cent on time deposits, but they do pay 3% on time deposits.

The First National Bank is run by a bunch of fellows that don't want the whole Earth, and it fenced in with locust and galvanized barbed wire fencing, so they concluded to give the depositor a chance, and split the profits with them, this is what we have been saying all the time in the Advocate, and there is no one to blame for the 1/2 being added but the "Devil".

BETWEEN THE DEVIL AND THE DEEP BLUE SEA

The Water Company is in a sure enough predicament, the State Board of Health demand that the Company put in a filter this we are told will cost several thousand dollars. This the company has not got, it has done well to install the plant as it is, and have done well to keep it running, and we are glad to have it as it is and are still willing to accept the water, and we will demand the same. Now, what is the Company to do in the premises? the franchise entered into by and between the Company and the Citizens of the city recites that it shall furnish to the City and the Citizens water from Cumberland river, at a certain rate, this contract has been well and truly spent in plumbing the residences, business houses, Halls, Court house, jail, colleges and all other places, and after all preparations have been made for the use of the water for domestic purposes, shall we give it all up? We say No, the citizens will enjoin the Company from cutting off their water, and we confidently believe that the Courts of this State will sustain same and make the injunction perpetual. If the water cut off Barbourville will in a short time become so foul with the odor from refuse matter that a green fly will have to hold its nose if it wants to pass through, and a buzzard will go forty miles out of its way rather than try to cross over the town. There is no such an embargo placed upon the other towns along the Cumberland, why should we be singled out? If the water at this point is so dangerous why is it not so at other places?

We do not believe that the water from the river is so bad ordinarily, if the Reservoir was filled when the water is clear, there would be no such thing as a green sediment in the water. The reservoir has a capacity that would be if filled, sufficient to last for several days, but the trouble has been that the pump has been run and water pumped into the reservoir and lines that was full of filth and mud, and while the river was at high tide and while it was carrying the filth from every hollow above this place away and would have been carried by had the pumps not been running during this time. We believe that this is the best and only way out of this muddle. Let the Company be compelled to keep the reservoir full of good, clear water and not run the pumps when the river is muddy, and we will not be troubled with disease germs, and it will not be necessary to have a filter. Let's get at the bottom of all this, let's ask the State Board of health for a suspension of the rule, and let us see if this matter cannot be amicably adjusted.

"Mr. Knockor, Take the Stand."
The man who tells the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth is called a knockor.

Convenient.
Estate Agent (exhibiting property to prospective tenants)—And then this house is so conveniently located. Not the slightest need of equipping it with expensive clocks to tell the time—a train passes every five minutes on the railroad not 30 feet away.

Wealth.
Wealth may seek us, but wisdom must be sought.—Young.

Demagogues.
In every age the vilest specimens of human nature are to be found among demagogues.—Lord Macaulay.

Sympathy Lacking Wit.
There is a mercy which is weakness, and even treason against the common good.—George Eliot.

Where Values Are Relative.
"How much is this picture worth?" asked the salesman. "That depends," replied the dealer. "How much is the man who wants to buy it worth?"

Well, It Was Strong.
Little Gerakine, aged five, had finished her dinner, which included horse radish, the first she had ever tasted. She listened to the comments of her elders as to how delicious it was, but how strong. When her father left the table she followed him to the door and said sadly, "Papa, did you have to kill a horse to get it?"

Wisdom of Mohammed.

Words and Thought.
"The gift of words" is sometimes spoken of disparagingly by "practical" men. But words are merely the symbols of ideas, and nobody really has the gift of words who has not also the gift of thought. Before one can talk with power he first must be able to think. There never was a great speaker or who was not also a real thinker.

Really a Good Idea.
"Is your wife going to wear her diamonds to the grand opera?" "Of course," answered Mr. Cumrox. "We can't all appreciate music, and we ought to try to make grand opera interesting even for those who go merely to look on."

Don't forget that microbes are apt to lurk about the mouth of the milk bottle. It should be carefully wiped off before the milk is poured out.

He Knew They Would.
Sergeant—Believe that if Shakespeare were alive at the present time and trying to live by his pen in London the comic papers would reject many of his best jokes. Humorist—"I know it. I have tried 'em all."

Steadfastness.
It is easy in the world to live after the world's opinion; it is easy in solitude to live after our own; but the great man is he, who in the midst of the crowd keeps, with perfect sweetness, the independence of solitude.—Emerson.

Kindness.
No one thing does human life more need than a kind consideration of the needs of others. Everyone sins; everyone needs forgiveness. Our own imperfections should teach us to be merciful.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Real Test.
A well-bred man never knows whether his wife loves him or not. But let him commit a crime, and she will not only proclaim her affection, but she will stand by him in a manner to attract the attention and admiration of the civilized world.—Topsy's Capital.

Progress.
"The rolling stone gathers no moss," is a time-worn proverb, but, after all, it may well be questioned whether moss gathering is the highest use to which a stone can be put. The stoner that grind the meal for man's bread are not less valuable because they are uncoated with moss and the man who refuses to move along the road of general progress or helpfulness because it may interfere with his chance to accumulate for himself is not an ideal citizen.—Selected.

Sad Sound.
First Working Girl—"Say, Mame, I heard an awful sad thing this morning." Second Working Girl (wearily)—"So did I—the alarm clock."—Life.

Philosophy.
A Philadelphia philosopher is quoted as saying: "It is all right to put your best foot forward, but for goodness sake don't forget to move the other one once in a while at least."

More Important.
He—"Darling, refuse me, and I shall never love another girl!" She (briskly)—"What I want is a man who will promise me that if I accept him."—Judge.

The Microbe Age.
The old-fashioned boy who used to eat red ants spread on his bread and butter now has a son who won't touch a table knife until he knows that it has been properly sterilized.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Reparation.
"I think, William, I'll ask those new people next door to take dinner with us tonight." "What for?" "Well, the butcher, by mistake, left their meat order here, and it seems only fair."—Life.

Easily Settled.
Hickville Postmaster (discussing affairs of state)—"Now, what do you think of our foreign relations, Easy?" Prominent Lounge (warmly)—"I think they should be barred out of this here country if they can't read an' write!"—Judge.

Jumping the Tracks.
It seems to be normal in people to crave abnormal experiences. The trouble with taking a fling, as one sometimes terms a light indiscretion, is that it coarsens the timber and fiber of personality. Growth is the only thing worth while in experience, and folly is never a direct road to any goal.—Los Angeles Times.

Struggled in Vain.
She—"Tell me of your early struggles." He—"There's not much to tell. The harder I struggled, the more the old man laid it on."—Boston Transcript.

G. A. R. REUNION

The reunion of the G. A. R.'s at this place was a success, and every one attending went away with highest praises for the citizens of Barbourville and Knox County. They were a fine lot of old men, and some of them had their wives with them who were of the most lovable disposition, and who enjoyed their sojourn here.

The Colored Veterans were by no means forgotten, and were well represented, there being more than fifty of them in attendance. As well as having a good representation they have one of the most important offices in the organization, in the person of Rev. G. W. Ward, who is Chaplain of the State Organization, a forceful speaker and a man of fine appearance.

The colored ladies of the Relief Corps held their annual meeting and they, also, were well pleased with the city and gave the colored people highest praise for the manner in which they were entertained. We failed to get the proceedings of the Corps and cannot give the details of the meeting but we met the presiding officer, and from her appearance we are sure they had a good officer presiding and that all things went well.

Painless Death.

On one occasion a well-known public man described the act of dying as "a great adventure that must be much more interesting than getting out for the north pole." While few will agree with him, it is a great thing to know that science has robbed death of its terrors, and has taught us that no matter how much a dying person may appear to be suffering, he or she, immediately before death, can feel no pain whatever.

School of Manners.

"I think the Philadelphia trolley-men are the most impudent I've ever met," snapped a woman passenger to a conductor in a near-side car the other night. "Maybe we are, madam," replied the P. R. T. employee, "but did you ever stop to think that a conductor's manner is usually a reflection of that of the people he deals with?"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Insulted Great Scientist.

When a pension was voted to Faraday for his remarkable additions to scientific knowledge, from which untold millions of pounds sterling have inured, an ignorant lord was selected to announce the grant, but informed Faraday that he did not think much of this science business, and added: "Now, really, Faraday, it's all a humbug anyway, isn't it?" The insulted chemist refused the pension until other better informed officials apologized humbly for the impertinence of "his lordship."

His Worry.

"Clarence," said the American heiress hesitatingly, "I think that you should be told at once how my father made his money. Our business men in this country have methods which to one of your pure soul, whose motto is 'Noblesse oblige,' cannot but—" "Cease, Mamie, cease," said the young lord reassuringly, "tell me no more. However he made his millions I can forgive, for your sake. But—er—has he still got them all right?"

Value of Onions as Diet.

Persons troubled with distressing eruptions of the skin may give their skin a new lease of life by having onions frequently figuring in the diet. Furthermore, disease germs cannot live in the presence of onions, nor can disease germs have ill effects on persons whose blood is charged with onion juice.

Remarkable Pedal Stop.

The lowest pedal stop in existence has just been installed in a Lowell (Mass.) church. It is 128 feet long, and gives a note technically known as CCCCC, vibrating only four times a second. The sound is so soft that it can hardly be heard, and yet so strong that it prevails against the heaviest chords.

In the Darkest Hour.

When weary life, breathing reluctant breath, hath no hope sweeter than the hope of death; then the best counsel and the best relief to cheer the spirit or to cheat the grief, the only calm, the only comfort heard, comes in the music of a woman's word.—Edwin Arnold.

Ireland's Fisheries in Bad Way.

Statistics show that Ireland's fisheries continue to decline in amount of fish landed and the number of men and boats engaged. Capitalists are displacing individual fishermen.

Dodger.

"Now, why are you crying?" "My husband is so evasive," yelped the bride. "Every time I ask him how he likes my biscuit he tells me that I have beautiful eyes."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Last Resort.

"Do you think women should propose?" asked the pensive lady. "I don't know," mused the young thing. "Have you tried everything else?"

Virtue in Self-Denial.

Begin by denying yourself, and by and by you forget yourself. The kindness which was at first just a duty becomes a pleasure and a joy. Self-denial becomes glorified into self-forgetfulness.—Brooke Herford.

The Suitor.

Young Wilmarth sought an interview with Mr. Carpenter. "I'd like," said the young man nervously, "to marry your daughter, sir." "Well, I've got six," responded the old-fashioned father. "Take all you want."

Light to Grow Skin.

Dr. Joseph Schmaskin, house physician at Lebanon hospital, the Bronx, has discovered that by exposing a large wounded surface to the direct rays of the sun and of powerful electric lights when the sun is not shining, keeping it at the same time always exposed to the air, the wound heals rapidly, new skin growing over raw surfaces so large that grafting would be necessary under any other treatment.

Very Old Custom.

The custom of saying "God bless you" to a person when he sneezes originated among the ancients, who, fearing danger from it, after sneezing made a short prayer to the gods, as "Jupiter help me." The custom is mentioned by Homer, the Jewish rabbis and others. Polydore Vergil says it took its rise at the time of the plague in 558, when the infected fell dead, sneezing, though apparently in health.

Deep Fresh Water.

In Lake Baikal, in Asia, the extraordinary depth of more than 5,600 feet has been reached, making this by far the deepest fresh water known. It now appears that Lake Tanganyika, in Africa, may approach this depth, as Capt. Jacobs of the German navy has reported a sounding of 4,190 feet, and a Belgian officer claims to have penetrated still lower. Tanganyika's deepest bottom is at least 1,600 feet below sea level.

Life's Bitterness.

One of the worst of life's bitternesses is to send to some distant post office for a package held for postage and find that it is a sample copy of a magazine that you had bought two weeks before.

paid a woman, a handsome sum for this invention. And yet it's such a simple notion! You'll wonder why you did not think of it yourself. The reason probably is that you have never been properly encouraged to use your inventive talent. Here's a chance, it is for you—it is for every housewife in America. Now we also manufacture the STANDUP SCRUBBER—that wonderful little machine that takes all the hard work out of keeping the lower clean—the more, the better, no more sore joints, no more stooping and wearing the life out of the joints and knees to clean a floor.

The Standup Scrubber is a man's invention. But wouldn't it be a glorious achievement to the credit of womanhood if YOU should improve it? We believe it is possible, notwithstanding it is today admittedly the only practical scrubbing machine on the market.

We know you will be delighted with this Standup Scrubber, and you may be sensible for you to suggest some little thing that would make it more perfect. Now for every such suggestion that you send us, and first we adopt, looking to the improvement of the Standup Scrubber or the Clara King Clothespin Bag, or for any other idea that we accept and develop into an invention to make housework easier, we will give Trinidad's Mangrove Trees.

The mangrove tree, which is found in Trinidad, has many peculiarities. For one thing, its seeds germinate on the branches, and when the shoots are considerably grown they fall off and take root in the mud. As the young tree grows it sends out fresh roots from its trunk and lower branches, until at last the tree seems to be supported by a network of roots, or complicated series of arches, in the midst of which crabs, aquatic birds and insects take up their abode.

Certain of Its Reward.
There never was a great institution or a great man that did not sooner or later receive the reverence of mankind.—Theodore Parker.

Immortal Engraving.
If we work upon marble it will perish. If we work upon brass, these will efface it. If we rear temples, they will crumble into dust, but if we work upon immortal souls, if we imbue them with principles, with the just fear of God and love of fellow men, we engrave on those tablets something which will brighten to all eternity.—Daniel Webster.

Peculiar Classification.
In the census office at Washington acts against the law are recorded under a few main heads, such as murder, burglary, etc. A lady who was working there recently ran across the crime, "Raising a blind tiger." After a puzzled moment she placed it under the list, "Cruelty to Animals."

Children's Kidneys

No Barbourville Mother Should Neglect the Little One's Health.

Often weak kidneys cause great annoyance and embarrassment to children. Inability to control the kidney secretions, at night or while at play, is attributed to carelessness and too frequently the child is punished. Parents having children troubled with kidney weakness would do well to treat the kidneys with a tested and proven kidney remedy. If there is pain in the back, discolored urine, irregular urination, headaches, dizzy spells or a tired, worn-out feeling, try Doan's Kidney Pills at once. This remedy has been used in kidney troubles for over 50 years and has been recommended by thousands. Convincing proof of merit in the following statement. It's from a resident of this locality:

Mrs. Nora Burns, Cumberland Ave., Pineville, Ky., says: "My little boy had been afflicted with kidney trouble for a long time and was so bad that I was worried. He had little or no control over his kidney secretions and this difficulty was a source of annoyance. Nothing seemed to be of any permanent benefit until I finally decided to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial. They cured him and I am glad to say that the cure has been permanent."

Price 50 cents at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Burns recommended. Foster-McMurray Co., Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

GRAND MEETING OF OLD VETERANS

GIVEN ROYAL RECEPTION BY CITIZENS OF BARBOURVILLE REGARDLESS OF POLITICS.

On Wednesday the Thirty-Second Annual Encampment of the G. A. R. convened here with Col W. J. L. Hughes, Commander, presiding.

Tuesday evening's train No. 23, came into the city, it brought three special cars of the veterans of the Civil War, who fought to save the Flag of our country and to make us a Union and not a Confederacy, the boys who through the leadership of Grant, Sherman and Sheridan, made it possible for us to enjoy the proud privilege of living in the greatest of all nations, the United States.

On Tuesday it was fully demonstrated how glad we were to have these good old soldiers with us, as was demonstrated by the line of automobiles that brought the immense crowd from the depot to the hotels and dormitories where they were entertained. As we left the depot one could at a glance see from the decorations from the start to the other end of the city that Barbourville was indeed expecting some one. Most every house in the city being decorated with bunting and old Glory floated in profusion from each street corner and in many places over the streets on every public building, school buildings, business house and residence, and the happy visitors sitting beneath the beautiful shade trees were treated to music by the Red Men's Band as well as the Colored Orchestra.

At 2:30 o'clock a meeting of the citizens, soldiers, and women of the Relief corps, were held in the Barbourville Baptist Institute, where the following program was rendered:

Invocation, Rev J. A. Lowry; Song America, children; Address, Mrs. Sallie P. Hanson, Department President Woman's Relief Corps; Song, Star Spangled Banner, audience; Address, Hon. Sawyer A. Smith; Benediction, Rev J. T. Stamper.

The business session was held Wednesday from ten in the forenoon until four-thirty in the afternoon, at which time all old veterans, school children and citizens assembled upon the beautiful lawn of Judge F. D. Sampson's, where there were rendered the strains played by the boys in Blue from 1861 to 1865, rendered by the Barbourville Red Men's Band, after which an address was delivered by Mrs. Isabel Worrell Ball, of Washington, D. C., her subject being "Our Flag." This address was one of the most beautiful, eloquent and forceful ever delivered in this city. When she had finished the band played "Star Spangled Banner." Col. John McElroy, of Washington, D. C., then delivered a splendid address to his old comrades which was greeted by loud and long applause. When he had finished the band played the old stirring tune "Marching Thru' Georgia."

There was an immense crowd assembled upon this lawn. Judge Sampson, assisted by his amiable wife, served the entire audience with punch, ice cream and other delicacies, and as usual, made everyone feel that they were at home. Judge Sampson in this matter, as in all others, went his full limit to entertain the old veterans, sons of veterans and gay and all present and everyone left with that kind feeling and sweet remembrance of Judge Sampson, and we are sure that none of them will regret having gone there.

At 7:45 the camp fire was held at Union College chapel with the following program fully rendered:

Invocation, Rev E. R. Overley, Pastor of the First M. E. Church; Song, America; Audience; Address of Welcome, Judge F. D. Sampson; Song, Rally Around the Flag, children of Barbourville Schools; Response, Col W. J. L. Hughes, of Owensboro, Department Commander; Welcome Sons of Veterans, Capt B. B. Goidan, Commander Sons of Veterans, Barbourville; Music by Band; Response, Col A. P. Ross, Commander Sons of Veterans, Kentucky Department; Address, Col J. McElroy, of Washington, D. C., Past Commander; Vocal Solo, selection, Mrs. Chas. Fish Rathfon; Song, Old Kentucky Home, Audience; Address, Comrade LeVant Dodge; Address, In behalf of Woman's Relief Corps, Sallie P. Hanson, Department President Woman's Relief Corps; Address, Mrs. Mary H. Dodge; Song, Star Spangled Banner, Audience; Address, Mrs. Isabel Worrell Ball, Washington, D. C., National President Woman's Relief Corps; Song, God Be With You Till We Meet Again, Audience; Benediction, Rev J. W. Ligon, Pastor Christian Church.

Each and all of the speakers it seemed did their best, and there was for two hours a constant flow of the most eloquent and impressive praises of the old soldier who fought so nobly to keep this country upon the map of the world and our Flag untainted and unfurled to the breeze.

On Thursday morning the G. A. R.'s completed their work, installing their officers for the ensuing year as follows: Edwin Forly, Commander; G. W. Guna, Sr. Vice Commander; G. F. Bretz, Jr. Vice Commander; Rev G. W. Word, Chaplain.

After which a concert was given by the band and a parade was formed of the Veterans, sons of veterans, school children and citizens, and they proceeded to Union College campus where the following program was had:

Thursday morning June 11th, the following was the program: 10:30, Music by Band; 10:40, Address by John L. Powers; Music by Colored Orchestra; 11:00, Address by Mrs. Isabel Worrell Ball; 11:15, Music by Band; 11:20, Address by Col. John McElroy; Music by Colored Orchestra; 11:30, Address, Rev G. W. Word, Colored G. A. R. Veteran; Music by Band; 12:20, Address by Hon. James D. Black; Music by Band; 12:50, Address by Rev J. T. Stamper; 1:00, Barbecue.

At 12:30 o'clock it was announced by Minister of Ceremonies J. M. Robison, that the mess call be sounded, at which time all were invited to partake of the barbecued meat, burgoo, coffee, lemonade and other good things that had been prepared for all present.

Summing the whole matter up, we say that it was indeed a success, and we feel sure that every one who came here to attend this meeting went away feeling that we had done our best, add many of them expressed it in these words, "We have been loyally entertained; we feel like we would like to be with you always;" others with tears on their cheeks and trembling hand would say "This is the greatest time of my life, God bless you, I hope we may be invited to come here again."

We feel thankful to you for coming among us, and we invite you to come again, no matter whether it is upon an occasion of this kind or not, come when you can, you are welcome; we have no latch-strings, we have no use for them, our doors stand wide open to you. We want you.

We are glad that you came because you can better know us. The mountains of Kentucky have been badly misrepresented; in the mountains of Kentucky here lives the bravest, most noble and kind hearted people the world ever knew; we are not a bad people that the other sections of the State would have you believe we are. We are true Kentuckians, true American citizens, and in all the conflicts and hard fought battles that this country has ever had to fight, the mountain people have been in the fore front, furnishing more than her quota of soldiers; in the mountains there are no fends, we are all neighbors, living under the same flag, worshipping the same God; we live in the richest section of the State; we have our black diamond stored away millions of years ago in these mountain sides for the use of mankind and we are utilizing same; every man in the mountains has a job and every one is happy; we have no paupers, no man, woman or child wants for food or clothing; we have money to entertain the old soldiers again, and we will do it; we invite you here and now to come again.

This was our first opportunity to have you with us; it may be our last, though we hope not; it is, we hope that each and every one will be at that grand encampment that one that is to be held in the city of the New Jerusalem, in that eternal encampment, in that Great House, not made by hand eternally in the heavens. There on that great camping ground that will be presided over by the same omnipotent artificer, that one that guided the great Army of Israel, who liberated the children of Israel, that same one that guided Moses through the wilderness; that same one who kept a watchful eye upon the immortal Lincoln, and saved the Army of the Republic and this country, cemented and bound together by the cement of love, and bound by the steel band of friendship, that has made us one country, one flag, one government forever.

Imagination to Be Controlled. Imagination is a great faculty if properly controlled. Uncontrolled, let loose to run its course untrammelled, breeding its kindred passions of prejudice, fear, hate, malice, it becomes a menace, haunting us with its fantastic and fallacious, unlifting us for high purpose. Yet it dwells latent or potent in every human breast, master or servant, according to the strength or weakness of the will.

Church Appropriately Adorned. At a special service for fishermen at Corton, near Lowestoft, England, the church was adorned with nets, in which herrings were enmeshed, that were festooned around the nave. An arch of oars from which was suspended a sailboat, spanned the center aisle, and flags, buoys, bladders and other fishing gear completed the scene of decoration.

SYNOPSIS.

Eleanora de Toscana was singing in Paris, when, perhaps, accounted for Edward Courtlandt's appearance there. Multimillionaire, he wandered about where fancy dictated. He might be in Paris one day and Kanchaika the next. Following the opera he goes to a cafe and is accosted by a pretty young woman. She gives him the address of Flora Desmone, vocal rival of Toscana, and Flora gives him the address of Eleanora, whom he is determined to see. Courtlandt enters Eleanora's apartments. She orders him out and shoots at him. The next day Paris is shocked by the mysterious disappearance of the prima donna. Realizing that he may be suspected of the abduction of Eleanora, Courtlandt arranges for an alibi. Eleanora reappears and accuses Courtlandt of having abducted her. His alibi is satisfactory to the police and the charge is dismissed. Eleanora flees to Lake Como to rest after the shock. She is followed by a number of her admirers, among them the prince who really procured her abduction.

"That expression proves that your Highness is sane again. Have you realized the annoyances, the embarrassments, you have thrust upon me by your pursuit? Have you not read the scandalous innuendoes in the newspapers? Your Highness, I was not born on the Continent, so I look upon my work from a point of view not common to those of your caste. I am proud of it, and I look upon it with honor, honor. I am a woman, but I am not wholly defenseless. There was a time when I thought I might number among my friends a prince; but you have made that impossible."

"Come," he said hoarsely; "let us go and find a priest. You are right. I love you; I will give up everything, everything!"

For a moment she was dumb. This absolute surrender appalled her. But that good fortune which had ever been at her side stepped into the breach. And as she saw the tall form of the Barone approach, she could have thrown her arms around his neck in pure gladness.

"Oh, Barone!" she called. "Am I making you miss this dance?"

"It does not matter, signorina." The Barone stared keenly at the erect and tense figure at the prima donna's side. "You will excuse me, Herr Rosen," said Nora, as she laid her hand upon the Barone's arm.

Herr Rosen bowed stiffly; and the two left him standing uncovered in the moonlight.

"What is he doing here? What has he been saying to you?" the Barone demanded. Nora withdrew her hand from his arm. "Pardon me," said she contritely. "I have no right to ask you such questions."

It was not long after midnight when the motor-boat returned to its mooring place. On the way over conversation lagged, and finally died altogether. Mrs. Harrigan fell asleep against Celeste's shoulder, and the musician never deviated her gaze from the silver ripples which flowed out diagonally and magically from the prow of the boat. Nora watched the stars slowly ascend over the eastern range of mountains; and across the fire of his innumerable cigarettes the Barone watched her.

As the boat was made fast to the landing in front of the Grand hotel, Celeste observed a man in evening dress, lounging against the rail of the quay. The search light from the customs boat, hunting for tobacco smugglers, flashed over his face. She could not repress the little gasp, and her hand tightened upon Nora's arm.

"What is it?" asked Nora.

"Nothing. I thought I was slipping."

CHAPTER VII.

Colonel Caxley-Webster.

Abbott's studio was under the roof of one of the little hotels that stand timorously and humbly, yet expectantly, between the imposing cream-stucco of the Grand hotel at one end and the elaborate pink-stucco of the Grande Bretegne at the other. The hob-nailed shoes of the Teuton (who wears his mountain kit all the way from Hamburg to Palermo) wore up and down the stairs all day; and the racket from the hucksters' carts and hotel omnibuses, arriving and departing from the steamboat landing, the shouts of the begging boatmen, the quarrelling of the children and the barking of unpedigreed dogs—these noises were incessant from dawn until sunset.

The artist glared down from his square window at the ruffled waters, or scowled at the fleeting snows on the mountains over the way. He passed some ten or twelve minutes in this useless occupation, but he could not get away from the bald fact that he had acted like a petulant child. To have shown his hand so openly, simply because the Barone had beaten him in the race for the motor-boat! And

Nora would understand that he was weak and without backbone. Harrigan himself must have reasoned out the cause for such asinine plays as he had executed in the game of checkers. How many times had the old man called out to him to wake up and move? In spirit he had been across the lake, a spirit in Hades. He was not only a fool, but a coward likewise. He had not dared to put it to the touch

To gain or lose it all.

He saw it coming; before long he and that Italian would be at each other's throats.

"Come in!" he called, in response to a sudden thunder on the door. The door opened and a short, energetic old man, purple-visaged and hawk-eyed, came in. "Why the devil don't you join the Trappist monks, Abbott? If I wasn't tough I should have died of apoplexy on the second landing."

"Good morning, Colonel!" Abbott laughed and rolled out the patent rocker for his guest. "What's on your mind this morning? I can give you one without ice."

"I'll take it neat, my boy. I'm not thirsty, I'm faint. These Italian architects; they call three ladders flights of stairs! . . . Ha! That's Irish whisky, and jolly fine. Want you to come over and take tea this afternoon. I'm going up presently to see the Harrigans. Thought I'd go around and do the thing informally. Taken a fancy to the old chap. He's a little bit of all right. I'm no older than he is, but look at the difference! Whisky and soda, that's the racket. Not by the tubful; just an ordinary half dozen a day, and a dem climate thrown in."

"Difference in training."

"Rot! It's the sized hat a man wears. I'd give fifty guineas to see the old fellow in action. But, I say; recall the argument we had before you went to Paris?"

"Yes."

"Well, I win. Saw him bang across the street this morning."

Abbott muttered something.

"What was that?"

"Nothing."

"Sounded like 'dem it' to me."

"Maybe it did."

"Heard about him in Paris?"

"No."

"The old boy had transferred his regiment to a lonesome post in the North to cool his blood. The youngster took the next train to Paris. He was there incognito for two weeks before they found him and bundled him back. Of course, every one knows that he is but a crazy lad who's had too much freedom." The colonel emptied his glass. "I feel dem sorry for Nora. She's the right sort. But a woman can't take a man by the scruff of his neck and chuck him."

"But I can," declared Abbott savagely.

"Tut, tut! He'd eat you alive. Besides, you will find him too clever to give you an opening. But he'll bear watching. He's capable of putting her on a train and running away with her. Between you and me, I don't blame him. What's the matter with sicking the Barone on him? He's the best man in southern Italy with foils and broadswords. Sic 'em, Towser; sic 'em!" The old fire-eater chuckled.

The subject was extremely distasteful to the artist. The colonel, a rough soldier, whose diplomacy had never risen above the heights of clubbing a recalcitrant hillman into submission, baldly inferred that he understood the artist's interest in the rose of the Harrigan family. He would have liked to talk more in regard to the interloper, but it would have been sheer folly. The colonel, in his blundering way, would have brought up the subject again at tea-time and put everybody on edge. He had, unfortunately for his friends, a reputation other than that of a soldier; he posed as a peacemaker. He saw trouble where none existed, and the way he patched up imaginary quarrels would have strained the patience of Job. Still, every one loved him, though they lived in mortal fear of him. So Abbott came about quickly and sailed against the wind.

"By the way," he said, "I wish you would let me sketch that servant of yours. He's got a profile like a medallion. Where did you pick him up?"

"In the Hills. He's a Sikh, and a first-class fighting man. Didn't know that you went for faces."

"Not as a usual thing. Just want it for my own use. How does he keep his beard combed that way?"

"I've never bothered myself about the curl of his whiskers. Are my clothes laid out? Luggage attended to? Guns shipshape? That's enough for me. Some day you have got to go out there with me."

"Never shot a gun in all my life. I don't know which end to hold at my shoulder."

"Teach you quick enough. Every man's a born hunter. Rao will have tigers eating out of your hand. He's a marvel; saved my hide more than once. Funny thing; you can't show 'em that you're grateful. Lose caste if you do. I rather miss it. Get the East in your blood and you'll never get it out. Fascinating! But my liver turned over once too many times. Ha! Some one coming up to buy a picture."

The step outside was firm and unwearied by the climb. The door opened unceremoniously, and Courtlandt came in. He stared at the colonel and the colonel returned the stare.

"Caxley-Webster! Well, I say, this globe goes on shrinking every day!" cried Courtlandt.

The two pumped hands energetically, sizing each other up critically. Then they sat down and shot questions, while Abbott looked on bewildered. Elephants and tigers and chit-tahs and wild boar and quail-running and strange guttural names; weltering nights in the jungle, freezing mornings in the Hills; stupendous card games; and what had become of so-and-so, who always drank his whisky neat; and what's-his-name, who invented cures for snake bites!

Abbott deliberately pushed over an oak bench. "Am I lost here or not?" "Abby, old man, how are you?" said Courtlandt, smiling warmly and holding out his hand. "My apologies; but the colonel and I never expected to see each other again. And I find him talking with you up here under this roof. It's marvelous."

"It's a wonder you wouldn't drop a fellow a line," said Abbott, in a fault-finding tone, as he righted the bench.

"When did you come?"

"Last night. Came up from Como."

"Going to stay long?"

"That depends. I am really on my way to Zermatt. I've a hankering to have another try at the Matterhorn."

"Think of that!" exclaimed the colonel. "He says another try."

"You came a roundabout way," was the artist's comment.

"Oh, that's because I left Paris for Brescia. They had some good flights there. Wonderful year! They cross the channel in an airship and discover the North Pole."

"Pah! Neither will be of any use to humanity; merely a fine sporting proposition." The colonel dug into his pocket for his pipe. "But what do you think of Germany?"

"Fine country," answered Courtlandt, rising and going to a window; "fine people, too. Why?"

"Do you—er—think they could whip us?"

"On land, yes."

"The devil!"

"On water, no."

"Thanks. In other words, you believe our chances equal?"

"So equal that all this war-scare is piffle. But I rather like to see you English get up in the air occasionally. It will do you good. You've an idea because you walloped Napoleon that you're the same race you were then, and you are not. The English-speaking races, as the first soldiers, have ceased to be."

"Well, I be dem!" gasped the colonel. "It's the truth. Take the American, he thinks there is nothing in the world but money. Take the Britisher, to him caste is everything. Take the money out of one man's mind and the importance of being well-born out of the other . . ." He turned from the window and smiled at the artist and the emurpling Anglo-Indian.

"Abbott," growled the soldier, "that man will some day drive me amuck. What do you think? One night, on a tiger hunt, he got me into an argument like this. A brute of a beast jumped into the middle of it. Courtlandt shot him on the second bound, and turned to me with—'Well, as I was saying! I don't know to this day whether it was nerve or what you Americans call gall.'"

"Divided by two," grinned Abbott.

"Ha, I see; half nerve and half gall. I'll remember that. But we were talking of airships."

"I was," retorted Courtlandt. "You were the man who started the pow-wow." He looked down into the street with sudden interest. "Who is that?"

The colonel and Abbott hurried across the room.

"What did I say, Abbott? I told you I saw him. He's crazy; fact. Think he can travel around incognito when there isn't a magazine on earth that hasn't printed his picture."

"Well, why shouldn't he travel around if he wants to?" asked Courtlandt coolly.

The colonel nudged the artist. "There happens to be an attraction in Bellaggio," said Abbott irritably.

"The moth and the candle," supplemented the colonel, peering over Courtlandt's shoulder. "He's well set up," grudgingly admitted the old fellow.

AMERICA MODEL FOR EUROPE

Baroness von Suttner Calls the United States "Land of Unlimited Possibilities."

"The land of unlimited possibilities and conquered impossibilities" is what Baroness Bertha von Suttner calls America.

"It is to America, the young, new world, exuberant in strength, glad in its daring, that tired, cynical Europe looks to find new hope and faith in progress," says the baroness, who declares that Europe is being Americanized by returning immigrants.

"But," she says, "it is a pity that so few people of our better educated classes travel in your country as you Americans travel here. But, do you know, I have often wondered if you know us as well as you know our art and antiquities."

"One of my dear American friends confided to me that they, she and her husband, had never been in a private home in Europe until they visited me."

"Even though everything is not rosy in your political arena, though there is brazen-faced practice of corruption—how do you call it, graft, trusts, strikes, bribery—though you have conditions as complex and problems as difficult as everywhere else, we look to you for the solution, for America is full of hope, strength, and you Americans are striving and working."

His Coffin Finished, He Dies. After seeing that his coffin was made, J. Welch, father of Mrs. Nelson, died from the ravages of cancer. He came from Oakland last fall to live with his daughter. Three months ago he requested that his coffin be made, so it might be finished before his death.

His son-in-law and daughter were able to postpone the unpleasant task, but Nelson yielded to entreaties of his father-in-law ten days ago, and unwillingly began the work to please the aged sufferer, finishing it before death came.—Fall River Mills (Cal.) Dispatch to the New York World.

Getting Round It.

Lincoln Steffens, in a recent address at Cooper union in New York, said:

"The wife of a child labor millionaire once asked him in some little disgust:

"George, suppose you'd been born in the days when everybody had to live by the sweat of his or her brow. What would you do then?"

"I'd open a stand," George answered, "for the sale of hankerchiefs."

Anticipation.

"One summer I chanced to be back in the ridges of Tennessee," said United States Senator Blair Lee of Maryland, as he leaned back in his chair, "and a couple of mountaineers got into an argument. High words led to blows, and one of the men was killed. One of the party volunteered to ride on ahead to the dead man's cabin and break the news to the widow."

"She was seated at a table eating apple-dumplings when the man rode up. He broke the news as gently as possible. The woman listened quietly with a dumpling poised in the air half way to her mouth. When the man had finished, she stuffed the dumpling into her mouth and said:

"You-all jest wait till I finish this hyer dumplin' an' then you-all'll hear some hollerin'."

Finding Markets for Obsolete Firearms

By C. P. STEWART, London, Eng.

ized districts and amongst rebel societies. Russian terrorist committees, Indian hill tribes and Arabs are the chief buyers of old guns.

A few years ago a London firm was offering for sale a million single-shot rifles which one of the smaller European states had discarded. In order to get them right out of their country and thus away from revolutionaries, the state had sacrificed them for a mere song. The London company bought them, and was ready to dispose of them at a slight profit.

Pathans on the Indian slopes would dearly have loved to get hold of some of these rifles, for a hill native will risk his life creeping into the British frontier posts by night in order to steal Tommy's firearms.

Immense profit is to be made, therefore, by smuggling guns into forbidden territory, and sea captains and other hardy adventurers are to be found ready to stand their chance of either making a fortune, being blown sky high or languishing in prison for life.

Six years ago a tragedy occurred that shows the desperate character of the men engaged in these enterprises. A three-masted brig hovered off Tunis and began to unload its cargo into a small native boat. The operations were seen through a telescope by some French revenue officers, who, certain that something illegal was taking place, dispatched a number of armed vessels to the spot, instructing the crews to wait until daylight before boarding the brig. Suddenly a terrible explosion happened, and the spot where the brig had rested at anchor was clouded by smoke. When it cleared away, not a vestige of the brig remained. It is conjectured that rather than be captured and imprisoned the captain had applied a light to the huge quantities of dynamite on board, and blown his boat, his crew and himself to atoms.

Often, instead of exciting suspicion by running into port, a gun smuggler will place his armaments in air-tight tin cases, which are next concealed in wooden chests. A long piece of rope is then attached, and at the end fastened a buoy. The chests are then heaved overboard near the coast, and the buoys floating on the water denote where they can be found. At night the rebels go out in boats and tow them ashore.

Providing Fresh Air in School Rooms

By M. J. LEVERIDGE, Chicago

air in an inclosed room to make it healthful and at the same time avoid dangerous drafts was recently solved for a modern sixteen-room school with a registration of 750 pupils by equipping the windows with wooden screens, which were covered with a medium grade of unbleached cotton cloth. With these screens in place the windows were kept open in all kinds of weather throughout school hours.

The building was equipped with a fan which forced hot air into the room, and there were also steam-heated pipes running along the outside walls under the windows. Before school opened in the morning the janitor closed the windows and heated the room to 70 degrees by hot air from the fan.

When school opened the windows were raised and the hot air inlet closed. There were no cold drafts, as the velocity of the hot air rising from the radiator pipes was greater than that of the cold air which was being slowly diffused through the cloth screens. The resulting direction of the air current was upward.

The experiment proved entirely successful. Stiffness and odor disappeared from the schoolroom and the coughing and colds of the children ceased.

The pupils did much better work and cases of fainting and complaints of headaches ceased.

The cloth windows made possible all the advantages of the fresh-air room without its disadvantages of cold and draft.

Cost of Living in Munich and Paris

a furnished apartment for a year and was in a pension for several months.

In all continental cities in order to obtain an apartment one must lease for at least a year; must pay the equivalent of $5 for an inventory of the furniture; must pay for all breakage and unusual marring, according to prices quoted in the inventory; usually furnish the silver and cutlery; always the bed, table and kitchen linen, and, on giving up the apartment at the expiration of the lease must pay $10 for cleaning and renovating the apartment. These terms are obligatory. A small furnished apartment can be had—up several flights—for as low as $40 a month.

Prices for meats are cheaper than here; vegetables are cheaper and apples about the same.

One may live in a pension in the artists' section of Munich or the Latin quarter of Paris for about $1.25 a day, if she does not mind climbing several flights of winding stairs; or by paying from 20 cents to 25 cents more a day, according to the city, one may have automatic elevator service. Lights and fires are always extra.

Several Good Rules for Handling Husbands

By MRS. MARY M. DWYER
New York

Let a husband have his own way, or think he is having it. If you have to use blind bridle, a curb bit and spurs, you can make him used to them so they come natural. He needs petting and coaxing, too, and occasional lumps of sugar.

Everybody knows the main thing to make a man fond of his home is good cooking, neatness and comfort, and to know his wife isn't gadding about.

It is the real Christian that counts. Religion does not. A wife should avoid gossiping women, who make most of the trouble in life.

I never took much interest in the suffrage, but if other women want the vote, let them have it. The wise ones will side with their husbands in politics, anyhow.

Yes, most men are good. Some, of course, are rather like mules, but if a wife has patience and takes pains, she can train them right.

Huge profits and a spice of danger are the chief attractions of gun running. A market for the arms and ammunition that important countries discard as obsolete can be found in partly civil-

FACING A PROBLEM

Democratic Party Has Hard
Row to Hoe.

Previous Extravagance Seems to Make Economy Imperative, and Interests of the Country Are Bound to Suffer.

It is going to be a billion-dollar session, and some of the Democratic leaders are alarmed by the fact. They fear the judgment of the voters in November. They recall the economy pledges made at Baltimore, and the elaboration of them by the Democratic spellbinders in the campaign that followed.

And yet these men seem undisturbed by the record respecting other pledges made at the same time, and elaborated in the same fashion for campaign purposes.

Take the tariff. That has been revised downward, but the result promised has not been realized. The cost of living, instead of going down, has gone up. In some things, present figures are the highest of record. But they have not been produced by the Underwood law. What we all now know is that, contrary to the Democratic accusation, the Payne law was not responsible for the high cost of living while it was in operation. Hence it was impossible for a revision of that law to lower the cost.

Take the question of Panama canal tolls. The Democratic party at Baltimore committed itself absolutely to the exemption of American coastwise shipping from tolls, and the nominee of the convention explained why, and committed himself to the policy. And yet Mr. Wilson wants the exemption law repealed, the house under pressure by him has voted for repeal.

Both of these pledges were far more definite than was the pledge about economy. That pledge was in terms general and conventional—what is known in politics as a play to the galleries.

In the matter of appropriations the Democrats are face to face with a very definite proposition. They are for the time administering the affairs of a large and developing country. We have some heavy annual charges, and both parties have co-operated in fixing them. "An adequate navy," an up-to-date army, a large pension roll, internal improvements of an ambitious character, are among the items. The people in November, 1912, did not vote to cripple any feature of the accepted governmental arrangement. They expected the government to be supported in good style, and according to its size and purposes and just demands.

Bull Moose Dead in Arizona.

Arizona was one of the first states to register the passing of the Progressive party, according to Bracy Curtis, a prominent Nogales banker, who is at the Willard. There was no Progressive party in Arizona any more, none to speak of, he said, though in the election of 1912 Roosevelt beat Taft.

"In the Blisbee municipal election April 29, the Progressives barely beat out the Socialists," said Mr. Curtis. "Blisbee was the stronghold of the Progressives in the last national campaign. In the recent election the Democrats polled 535 votes, the Republicans 507, the Progressives 60, and the Socialists 24." The Democrats now look upon the Republicans as their dangerous foe, and are fearful of the coming election. The Republicans, naturally, are very enthusiastic, and are counting on carrying the state this fall. We may not be able to beat the Democrats this year, but we are surely going to turn Arizona into a Republican state."—Washington Herald.

Where Rolls the Oregon!

The Herald printed two weeks ago a comprehensive account from the pen of Charles Willis Thompson of the course of the Progressive party since the memorable contest of 1912. The figures showed a decline in all the states of the Union except our own, and here the peculiar conditions are only too well understood. Oregon has now submitted its testimony on the same subject in the returns from the primaries, which have just been held there.

In 1912 the state gave Wilson 47,000 votes, Roosevelt's 37,000 and Taft's 31,000. In the primary registration, just completed (with the presence of the women nominally doubling the totals), 134,000 voters listed themselves as Republicans, 59,000 as Democrats and—to be exact—6,255 Progressives.

To such a set of figures no editorial comment can add anything.—Boston Herald.

Make All the Difference.

In Republican administrations Democrats regard automobiles for the use of public officials as luxuries that ought not to be enjoyed at the expense of the poor taxpayer. But this is a Democratic administration.

SCALY PSORIASIS ON LIMBS

Troop H, 6th U. S. Cavalry, Camp McCoy, Sparta, Wis.—"I was troubled with psoriasis for nearly two years. Portions of my arms and limbs were affected mostly with it. It appeared in scaly form, breaking out in very small dots and gradually grew larger and white scales formed when about the size of an ordinary match-head. The looks of it was horrible, which made it very unpleasant for me. It itched a little at times.

"I tried several treatments which cured me for a month, but it always broke out again. One day a friend saw the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment in the paper and I sent for a sample. They helped me, so I purchased two more boxes of Cuticura Ointment and some Cuticura Soap and they completely cured me. It took three months for Cuticura Soap and Ointment to complete my cure." Larges War on Liquor

Powers warns His Auditors to Get into Politics; Suggests Lesson From Foe.

Representative says "Whiskey Men Roll Up Their Sleeves to Carry the Day." Tells Prohibitionists they "Must go in, Tooth and Nail." Says Hobson Amendment caused consternation.

Declaring that the only way advocates of prohibition could obtain legislation is to "go into politics, tooth and nail, and not let the liquor forces do all the fighting," Representative Caleb Powers spoke last evening at Kendall Baptist Church at a prohibition rally. Both Mr. and Mrs. Powers are members of the Baptist Church.

Scores Sluggish Prohibitionists.—"The trouble with the temperance people," said Mr. Powers, "is that they either won't mix in 'dirty and crooked' politics, or else they have only interest enough to sit back and view the fight between the liquor and prohibition men. The former roll up their sleeves and put in their money and whiskey to carry the day. What you must do is the same thing—mix in the whiskey—all over the country. I am opposed to the corrupt use of money, but it takes much to run the legitimate expenses of a campaign. You ought to stand by your friends. Elect temperance legislators; you can't get prohibition enactments from whiskey men."

"I am sorry I ever heard of politics, and a while I thought I was out. But I am back now, and back to win. I discovered that in my congressional district there were six temperate men and one liquor man, and he was holding the election in the hollow of his hand because of the profusion of opposing candidates. A dry district was in danger of having a liquor representative. So I went into the fight and the six candidates generously went out, saying we will stand by you. And I am in to stay."

Talks on Hobson Amendment.—"The Hobson prohibition amendment, being reported to the House by the judiciary committee, caused consternation," added Mr. Powers, "there has been wailing and gnashing of teeth and many of the men on the hill asking with bated breath 'Will it be voted on?' Many of these men realize that their being forced to a decision on this amendment will ruin their political ambition."—Washington, (D. C.) Post—Adv.

Caleb Powers Stands By His Constituents And The Coal Mining Industry of South Eastern Kentucky

In a speech on the floor of the House the other day Mr. Powers said in part:

Mr. Chairman, we have in South-eastern Kentucky over 10,000 square miles of bituminous coal territory. The western coal fields of Kentucky has over 6000 square miles, making in all in the State of Kentucky over 16,000 square miles of coal. There are only 14,000 square miles of bituminous coal territory in the entire State of Pennsylvania; so it can be seen that the State of Kentucky is vitally concerned in section 3 of this bill.

We clip from the Washington Post the following account of Mr. Powers' speech:

"Representative Caleb Powers, of Kentucky, whose district embraces enormous coal fields, makes the charge that the pending anti-trust legislation, which has the administration's backing, would open the doors to the formation of a coal monopoly in the United States such as the world has never seen. Powers said the bill does not prevent any of the great moneyed interests of this country from buying up, under compulsion, the entire coal output of southeastern Kentucky or of any other section of the country, and that instead of taking the matter out of the hands of the monopolists the proponents of this legislation are putting it into their hands."—Adv.

POWERS vs BOSWORTH

The Pinnacle News is progressive and will support a Progressive candidate for Congress in this District this Fall if the party should have a candidate. For this reason we can watch the cat-fight between Powers and Bosworth with an old boot already lifted to hit the victor. Quite naturally we are interested who this will be. Unquestionably it is not a one-sided race, as was the case between Powers and Edwards. Since Powers' first Victory he has been gradually on the decline. In this section and in some of the neighboring counties his friends have left him similarly to the way a snowball melts in July. He has no Old Guard left. Where he once was greeted by thousands; where people rode miles to enthusiastically grasp his hand, they will say to you today he has not a corporal's guard for the nucleus of an organization.

This condition of affairs he may be able to overcome; his old story may prove artful again. It is only the old story he can rely upon. He will not be able to point to any achievement in Congress as an excuse that he should be returned. His Congressional career has been a complete failure. Gran Philpot's saying "You might just as well have writ a postal card," is an uncontradicted truth with which the Republican voters of the Eleventh have to deal this year. Powers will answer this, no doubt, by saying we have a Democratic Congress. This will be some argument if he succeeds in keeping from the people the brilliant record that John Langley, a Republican of our neighboring district, has made in the same Congress. And his opponent, Bosworth, will be able to show that in a Democratic Senate at Frankfort he was able to have more important bills enacted than any of his Democratic colleagues. The laws that Bosworth made are endorsed by the best thought of the State and recognized to be of more real worth to the mountains than any legislation enacted for years. In attacking these laws Powers will be confronted for years. In attacking these laws Powers will be confronted by the judgement of all the people, irrespective of political affiliations, against him. Besides he will have nothing to offer from his standpoint as a legislator.

Judge Clint Kennedy, of Monticello, as we remember, formerly made the statement that in sending Powers to Congress the Republican party of this district demonstrated that it had more sentiment than sense. Judge Kennedy is now supporting Powers in the belief, no doubt, that it takes sentiment to get into office. His conclusions may be right this time, but sooner or later the people of this district will, perforce, awake to the realization that real goods must be delivered to us by our Congressmen in Washington in order that we can take our rightful position in the advancement of our wealth and sincere desire for progress merits.

We hope our next Congressman will be Progressive. Bosworth's old school ideas of Republicanism doesn't suit us. Should he be elected, however, there is no doubt he would be able to do a great deal for the district. Any man can do more than Powers. This Powers' friends admit, but excuse his candidacy in the belief that he needs further vindication. No claim is made by them that the district needs a Representative.—Adv.

And well might Powers foist his prejudice and passion upon us people, his trickery and questionable accusations, if there were no newspapers printed now-a-days and no public schools for the enlightenment of our children and teachers to sharpen their minds to differentiate between merit and the pretensions of it.—Adv.

Powers a Fakir.

Artful in Duplicity and Strong on His Mix-Up in the Goebel Affair.

The press in the 11th district last week was well supplied as to why Powers should be returned to Congress. This stuff is similar to what the people have heard so much of before. It is matter that has no place in this campaign between two Republicans aspiring to the nomination to Congress from this great Republican district, especially by Powers, in that his opponent makes no charge that he was guilty in the Goebel transaction and has no issue with him as to whether or not he got a square deal.

It is assumed the 11th district, which is composed of people of high culture, aspiring for progress and the development of our unusual gift or natural resources, desires the election of a Representative who can command the attention of the nation to our duty. In this assumption there should not be any anticipation that the voters will be interested in the inference that because Powers was arrested by Bosworth's brother, who was sheriff of Fayette county, Senator Bosworth is not deserving of the support of the people; nor is there in this charge except the merest rot, that Bosworth is a Democrat. Powers, himself, assisted in having Bosworth put on the Republican State Central Committee; assisted in his election to the Senate, both in his candidacy for the nomination and in the general election. Furthermore Bosworth has held office as a Republican for fifteen years in the capacity of city attorney, councilman and police judge of Middlesboro, and subsequently in the House of Representatives and as Senator. The Republican party at home and throughout the State have commended his efforts and recognized his achievements by putting him on the State Central Committee from the State at large.

Undoubtedly the real fault that Powers sees in Bosworth is his success as a lawmaker; is the encomiums the people of all parties and the press have for his good roads legislation; his fight for a fair primary law; re-districting the State, so that Republicans may be on an equality with the voters of other parties; the enacting of laws creating new judicial districts in this section of Kentucky to enable poor litigants to have their rights adjudicated; the passing of a workmen's compensation act, which enables the injured laborer to be fully compensated and in case of death, his family paid for his life, whether such person was in fault or not; persistently advocating the cause of temperance in accord with the best thought of temperance people and numerous other acts, as against Powers' record of not a single achievement; as against narry law passed of which he was the author during his term as our Congressman.

Well might the artful duplicity, the unjustifiable accusation by Powers that Henry Bosworth mistreated him as a prisoner; the statement that Bosworth is not a Republican; the awfulness of Bosworth having voted to erect a monument to Jefferson Davis, find lodgment in the minds of this electorate were we not a people of high attainments, possessing already the appreciation that the Republican and Progressive parties have, in unbounded magnanimity, endorsed the giving of our money and expressions of our love to the wounded soldiers and their widows of the Southland.

And well might Powers foist his prejudice and passion upon us people, his trickery and questionable accusations, if there were no newspapers printed now-a-days and no public schools for the enlightenment of our children and teachers to sharpen their minds to differentiate between merit and the pretensions of it.—Adv.
